Frequently asked questions

What does the Insperity® Workforce Optimization® solution include?

With Workforce Optimization, your employees get access to employee benefits (including medical coverage) and you get employment administration and payroll, employer liability management, HR-related government compliance assistance, performance management support, learning and development, and recruiting and outplacement support.

What is co-employment?

Professional employer organizations (PEOs), like Insperity, enter into a relationship with your agency called “co-employment.” Under this, the PEO contractually takes over certain employer-related HR functions, such as payroll and benefits, while you focus on running your agency. Your employees will be employed by both the PEO and your agency, which allows the PEO to function as the employer for certain HR purposes. As a result, the PEO can provide your company with comprehensive payroll and human resource services, while also giving your employees access to big business benefits, such as health insurance and retirement savings plans.

Will Insperity’s solution help me provide an attractive employee benefits package?

Yes. With Insperity® Workforce Optimization® services, your employees get access to Fortune 500-level benefits. Your employees will have the ability to choose from a variety of benefits, including medical coverage provided by national insurance carriers.

Are EAs and EFSs eligible to receive access to medical benefits?

All full-time agency employees (averaging 30 or more hours a week) are generally eligible for medical benefits.

When do employee benefits begin?

All Insperity® Workforce Optimization® services begin on your agreement effective date, subject to any waiting period or other delayed start date selected by the agency.

How can Insperity help decrease turnover at my agency?

With access to big business benefits, it should be easier than ever to attract and retain top employees. Plus, you’ll get help with developing your company culture, improving employee engagement, creating a reward and recognition program, training your leaders and more.

How can Insperity services help increase productivity at my agency?

Reduce employee-related paperwork that drains your valuable time. Insperity takes care of processing your payroll information, depositing and filing related payroll taxes, verifying employment eligibility, providing benefits and more. Meanwhile, you’ll have access to a service team that delivers personalized guidance on HR issues and employee performance, plus training and development resources to make your team stronger.

What services are required to become an Insperity client? Can we get just the benefits?

Our solution is built upon our status as a co-employer, which means we must handle other employer responsibilities, such as payroll and workers’ compensation. Our status as a co-employer is what allows us to offer benefits to your employees (who are also our employees). All benefits are provided under Insperity-sponsored plans, and those plans are not available outside of the co-employment relationship.

Is it worth it to discontinue my other HR-related vendor services?

During the sales process, agency owners are welcome to have discussions with the Insperity sales team to discuss the pros and cons of retaining these relationships so the agency owners can have all the information they need about Insperity’s services.

Will I have to contact a different person for each Insperity service?

You will have two points of contact at Insperity including an HR specialist and a payroll specialist.

Can I call and get a price immediately?

Our pricing process is simple. You will have a one-on-one conversation with an Insperity business performance advisor, fill out a few documents, and then we can provide your agency-specific pricing.

How long is the contract with Insperity?

Agencies can terminate the agreement with Insperity with 30 days’ notice.
